Adlai Brings Scramble

His Announcement Opens Way For Nomination Fight; Many Potentials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's announcement he will not seek a third chance at the presidency opened the way today to a scramble for the Democratic nomination in 1960.

Stevenson, defeated by President Eisenhower by about 10 million votes last month, said in a statement yesterday: "I will not run again for the presidency." He said he will resume private law practice in Chicago in January.

The twice-defeated Democratic candidate said his interest in the party will "continue undiminished." He said he had accepted membership on an advisory group being set up by the Democratic National Committee to counsel on a party legislative program.

Stevenson's vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, was asked if he too might be in a mood to remove himself from consideration for the 1960 presidential nomination. He replied:

"I am only in the mood to be the best senator here that I know how to be."

Kefauver's friends expect him to bid again for the top nomination in 1960.

Stevenson's withdrawal makes many Democratic governors and senators potential candidates for the 1960 nomination.

And four years hence, there is likely to be a free-for-all for the prize because Eisenhower is barred by the Constitution from a third term.

Apart from Kefauver, only Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's majority leader, is regarded as a stand-out possibility among Southerners for the Democratic nomination.

Newly elected senators who may get a chance include Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio and some others.

Among sitting senators, Albert Gore of Tennessee, John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri are regarded as possibilities.

The list of Democratic governors who might bid for the nomination includes G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Frank G. Clement of Tennessee and A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky.

In his statement, Stevenson voiced the opinion that "the greatest service the Democratic party can now render is a strong, searching and constructive opposition."

Directly across the roadway a side of a shed at the farm of Roy Clark was torn away by the strong gale.

MARSHALL (AP)—A $350,000 bond proposal to rehabilitate the city's sewer system was turned down yesterday in a special election.

The vote was 553 in favor and 399 against, short of the necessary two-third majority.

Ike to Tour Drouth Areas In Midwest

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower will tour drought areas of the Midwest and South-west in mid-January.

Announcing this today, Eisenhower's vacation headquarters said there has been no decision yet on the specific states to be visited.

But White House press secretary James C. Hagerty listed among areas hardest hit by drought problems: New Mexico, southern Colorado, southern Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Arizona.

Hagerty said Eisenhower will travel over the drought-stricken regions by plane and also confer in the areas with local officials. He added the trip will last "several days."

Hagerty said today Eisenhower will make the tour in mid-January, with specific dates to be set later.

Asked what the President hopes to accomplish through the inspection trip, Hagerty replied it will give the President information on what additional government aid farmers and ranchers of the area may need.

Hagerty said the tour probably also will disclose whether any additional legislation is needed. Hagerty announced these other developments:

1. The President will confer here tomorrow with the American ambassador to France, C. Douglas Dillon who will start back to his Paris post shortly after reporting to Eisenhower.

2. Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Carter L. Burgess as assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower, personnel and reserves.

Burgess also is resigning as a government member of the commission on government security.

Charges Three Nations With Conspiracy--

President Nasser Gives Official Version Of Happenings During Egypt Invasion

Editor's Note: What happened to the Soviet-equipped Egyptian armed forces when Israel lunged into Egypt's Sinai Desert Oct. 29 and during the preliminaries of the British-French assault on the Suez?

Here is Egypt's official version told by 38-year-old President Nasser. He is a lieutenant colonel and veteran of the 1948 Palestine war.

Nasser accused Britain, France and Israel of a conspiracy aimed at "full and complete destruction of Egypt... but God was with us."

His signed story is being published Wednesday in the Cairo weekly Akhir Saa Latest Hour. It was released to The Associated Press on the eve of publication. The story in condensed form follows.

By GAMAL ABDEL NASSER
President of Egypt
CAIRO, Dec. 4 (AP)—On Oct. 29 our military position was as follows:

GAZA STRIP—Only the National Guard was responsible for defense of this strip. We always knew this area could be cut off easily.

EGYPTIAN - PALESTINIAN FRONTIER—This was defended by six divisions, with their equipment only three points in the north. These points were Rafa, miles east of Marshall, three miles south of Slater, Mo., and two miles south of Centralia. Farm buildings were wrecked, machinery twisted, utility lines blown down and one house was unroofed.

The storm front moved in from Kansas, where a tornado alert had been issued earlier for a seven-county area in the south central part of the state.

At Ballard, the winds knocked a four-room house into a road, injuring the two occupants. Harlan Ireland, a 40-year-old farm hand, was hurt critically.

Both of Ireland's arms were broken, and he suffered possible internal injuries. Mrs. Harvey Tucker, whose husband owns the farm, also was hospitalized at Butler, but she was not believed to have been hurt seriously. Tucker wasn't in the house when the storm hit.

A neighbor of the Tuckers, Mrs. Grant Cook, said the twister also demolished two barns in the area.

A six-room farm house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Morris and several smaller structures were damaged at Montrose, 15 miles southeast of Ballard. Two men who were visiting in the Morris home suffered minor injuries and Mr. and Mrs. Morris took cover beneath a table and escaped unhurt.

Earlier in the day, a tornado alert was sounded for a seven-county area in south central Kansas. Three funnels were sighted in the Hutchinson-Penola area. Sheriff Virgil Thomas said one twister destroyed a chicken house near Penola. There were no other reports of damage.

A small private plane was forced down near Coal, Mo. The pilot, James Coleman, 43, Independence, Kan., escaped unhurt and his plane was not damaged. One twister struck three farm

Plan Bigger Welcome For Mayflower II

BOSTON (AP)—Only Indians greeted Mayflower I when she sailed into Plymouth Bay in 1620 and Massachusetts State Rep. John A. Armstrong wants to make sure the same doesn't happen to Mayflower II when she arrives next spring.

Armstrong (R-Plymouth) filed a resolution in the State House to set up a special committee of legislators to arrange proper official greetings for the new vessel when it arrives from England.

defended by two divisions; El 'Arish, two divisions; and Abu Ogeila, two divisions.

Except for these six divisions we had no other troops in Sinai. The southern tract was empty. And the rest of our main forces were stationed west of the Suez Canal for quick movement to any point in case of attack.

The Israelis launched their attack Oct. 29 in four places. It was clear that in the south we had no forces with which to stop them and so on Oct. 29 the enemy advanced rapidly in the south.

Through the night of Oct. 29 no engagement with the enemy took place. On the morning of Oct. 30 our air force began attacking the advancing Israelis in the southern area. This halted their unopposed advance.

On the night of Oct. 30 the Israelis reached our main positions at Abu Ogeila.

An all-night Israeli attack failed to overcome our positions. The second attack on the following day also failed. The Israelis lost eight planes, 40 tanks and suffered many casualties.

During the day, Oct. 31, our air force launched at least 20 raids on enemy airports in Israel. Our MIG17s proved their superiority over the enemy's French Mysteres.

homes east of Marshall, causing damage at the homes of M. P. Bell, George Webber, and John Brown.

The farm home of Lee Boyd, 3 miles east of Slater was unroofed, but the family which had just returned home escaped injuries.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the tornado spread a swath of destruction about a mile wide near Centralia. The farm home of Del Vanderpool was badly damaged. Outbuildings and machinery were damaged on the farms of Tom Marshall, Earl Selby and Donnie Young.

Troops May Leave Egypt Ahead of Time

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—A vast armada of shipping converged on Port Said today, and a speedup in activity suggested British and French forces were preparing to disappear from Egypt even quicker than the "two or three weeks" predicted for their withdrawal.

As the cloudy dawn broke over Egypt, a line of ships stretching from Port Said to the distant harbor already was moving out. The crowded harbor indicated that shipping already was on hand to take away most of the occupation troops.

Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the new U.N. Emergency Force, flew in from Cairo to discuss the withdrawal schedule. Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, over-all commander of the British-French force, also arrived from his Cyprus headquarters to confer with Burns.

The U.N. commander was to go on to Israel tomorrow to discuss Israeli plans for pulling out of the Sinai Peninsula.

Port Said ships were doing business once more today, after shutting down yesterday on orders from Egyptian "intimidation squads" who sought to spike British demands for reopenings. Side-walk cafes had tables and chairs out again and the general feeling was one of excited anticipation.

With few backward glances, more than 2,000 British and French soldiers filed aboard ship for home, just a month after the first paratroopers leaped into Egypt.

By the end of Oct. 31 the enemy had achieved no success. Before the day was over, however, the conspiracy was discovered.

We had always allowed for some kind of British interference in the battle of Sinai. We thought, however, that chances for such interferences were not more than 50-50. These odds rose to 70 per cent on receipt of the British ultimatum. But I still was not sure that the British could easily interfere in Sinai.

I was trying to judge the British viewpoint. My opinion was that any British military move—especially in alliance with France and Israel—would only produce catastrophe for Britain, no matter what the result of the military operation.

I do not mean we discounted the British use of force against Egypt or thought it was only a bluff. But I considered it most improbable that any responsible Briton would take such action.

Even after receiving the British ultimatum I still suspected it was only a political move designed to further complicate the situation.

I thought they were only luring us into sending some of our forces away from Sinai to face the British attack, thereby giving the Israelis a cheap victory.

At 7 a.m. Oct. 31, I was meeting the Indonesian ambassador in my (Please turn to Page 8, Col. 6)

Disperse Hungary Crowds

Police Use Rifle Butts to Breakup Demonstrations At US Embassy

Bulletin

VIENNA (AP)—The Soviet-controlled Hungarian Communist government announced tonight it will be impossible for U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to visit Hungary Dec. 16 as he had hoped.

The government of Soviet-supported Premier Janos Kadar said the time was "not suitable" for the Hungarian government.

No alternative date was mentioned.

BUDAPEST (AP)—Anti-Communist demonstrations flared across Budapest today. The atmosphere seemed charged as it was at the height of the revolution. Posters called for a new general strike tomorrow. Oral demands were heard again for "a national uprising."

Rifle-bearing Hungarian police, acting under Russian orders, broke up a mass demonstration in front of the U. S. Embassy. Russian tanks were moved up to nip a similar gathering before the British legation.

Women assembled in the streets for the second consecutive day to mourn the dead in the October-November uprising.

The police used their rifle butts in an assault on a crowd of about 400—men, women and children—who had gathered before the embassy shouting:

"Down with the AVH (secret police)!... No more deportations!... down with the government!"

American officials estimated at least two truckloads of the demonstrators were carted off by the police. Witnesses said some were seen to fall to the ground.

Hundreds of Hungarian women had congregated in the streets for the second consecutive day in mourning for insurgents killed in the anti-Communist rebellion.

The Russians moved more tanks and armored cars into the city as a precaution, but ordered Hungarian soldiers and police to handle the job of dispersing the women.

Most of the demonstration was orderly. It involved about 2,500 women, made up of groups of about 200 each. Yesterday about 15,000 demonstrated and one woman was wounded by gunfire after an altercation with a Soviet officer.

Republicans Meet to Choose House Leaders

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Minority Republicans of the Missouri House met today to choose their leaders for the legislative session that convenes Jan. 2.

Reports from inside the party indicated there would be contests for the positions of minority floor leader and caucus chairman.

In the running for floor leader, it was indicated, were the present floor leader, Samuel B. Murphy of St. Louis County, A. Clifford Jones of St. Louis County, and Don E. Burrell of Springfield.

Three others—Francis M. O'Brien of St. Louis, present caucus chairman Martin Degenhardt of Perry County and Luther Arnold of Stone County—were reported seeking the caucus chairmanship.

There were no indications of a contest for the job of caucus secretary, a position held the past few years by Rep. Clara Aiken Speer of Kansas City.

Coroner's Jury Rules Fisher Acted in Self Defense in Slaying

A coroner's jury which heard evidence in the stabbing of Delbert Clark, 46, 406 North Washington, who was knifed to death last Friday evening at the Main Street Bar, 109 East Main, found Joe Fisher, 70, 117 West Cooper, committed the act in self defense.

The inquest was conducted by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, coroner of Pettis County, in the Assembly Room of the Court-house.

Immediately following the verdict of the jury, Fisher was ordered released by Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick.

The jury was composed of Aron Smith, W. A. McMillin, Harry Spillers, Jim Reed, Guy Peabody and Al Pringle.

Morale Is Hit--

Britons Face Egypt Costs With Shudder

LONDON (AP)—Britons faced up with a shudder today to the bill for the invasion of Egypt. The country's morale was hit squarely by fears of mounting inflation, unemployment wage strikes, higher taxes and crippling fuel shortages.

Another bitter pill to many was the thought that the nation had once more gone begging for help from the United States, widely blamed here for Britain's empty-handed withdrawal from the Suez Canal zone.

Newspaper headlines exhorting everybody to pull together and get Britain out of the mess often had an effect opposite to that intended. Too many people were reminded that similar inspirational slogans in the past had heralded a period of grim struggle to rescue the national economy from dire peril.

The House of Commons continued the big post-mortem on the Egyptian military adventure with the start of a two-day foreign policy debate, due to reach a climax tomorrow night when the Conservative government asks for a vote of confidence.

Prime Minister Eden's government was expected to survive the vote, probably by a reduced majority, but feeling continued to mount that Eden himself would resign soon. The Prime Minister is due back in two weeks from Jamaica, where his doctors sent him for a rest at the height of the Suez crisis.

But the political furor was all but drowned in a chorus of groans from the man in the street as his immediate future struck home.

A quick rise in the cost of living was accepted on all sides as inevitable. A hike of 1 shilling 5 pence (20 cents) on diesel oil were alone enough to guarantee this. These increases were announced by the government and oil companies yesterday.

Because of greater transportation costs, the prices of bread, milk, meat and farm produce in general were expected to start climbing quickly. So were prices of most manufactured goods.

A big slump in automobile sales was predicted, with widespread unemployment in motor centers.

The Daily Telegraph, the Daily Sketch and the Daily Mail—all Conservative government supporters—expressed regret that in its need to conserve dollars Britain had asked Canada and the United States to waive the 104 million dollars in interest payments due them Dec. 31.

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—A federal judge at Knoxville was expected today to cite "several persons" in connection with Clinton's newest outbreak of racial violence.

U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor declined comment on what he has decided to do regarding persons accused of taking part in violence which caused newly integrated Clinton High School to close indefinitely yesterday.

But court officials at nearby Knoxville said they expected "several persons"—they said they did not know how many—to be cited for contempt of court in connection with yesterday's disorders.

In any case, no arrests are expected until late afternoon.

A Baptist minister, a white man, was beaten after he escorted six Negro students to the school past a jeering crowd. Inside the school a teacher was jostled by one of two youths who appeared at her classroom door and asked "Where's the niggers?"

An explosion last night shook the Negro section of Oliver Springs, six miles west of here. No injuries and little damage were reported. The explosive was apparently tossed from a moving car, blew up in the yard of Arvil Hall, 49, a Negro housepainter.

British Parties Clash

Challenge by Eden Party Draws Quick Response of Bevan; Future at Stake

LONDON (AP)—The Eden government challenged its Laborite opposition today to dispute that British action in the Middle East stopped war from spreading there.

The challenge, voiced by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, then drew a quick rejoinder from Aneurin Bevan, the Labor party's foreign policy spokesman.

"On the contrary, the government connived at the war," Bevan declared.

The clash came in the midst of a House of Commons debate in which the future of Prime Minister Eden's government was at stake. The Labor opposition is demanding his downfall. Even some in Eden's Conservative party are opposing him because of his policy in the Suez crisis.

Lloyd argued that because of the invasion "the magnitude of the Soviet penetration of Egypt has been revealed."

Lloyd denied that Britain collaborated with Israel in the invasion but admitted "it is true that we were well aware of the possibility of trouble."

Turning to the U. S. position, Lloyd said:

"I hope the United States will pass on from membership of the economic committee to full membership of the Baghdad Pact."

The alliance of states along the northern tier of the Middle East binds Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Britain. It was formed last year—originally at the suggestion of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles.

The United States has limited its support of the Pact to economic and political measures.

Lloyd touched briefly on the tenuousness in relations with the United States.

"I do not think that acute differences of opinion necessarily make it more difficult to associate together in the future," he said.

Phone Company And Union Sign New Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the Communications Workers of America reached agreement today on a new contract. It covers 25,000 long-distance operators and employees in 42 states and Washington, D.C.

The company announced the agreement, which must be ratified by the union's long lines division to become valid.

The company said the pact provides for a weekly wage increase ranging from $2.50 to $3 for 10,500 operators and for raises of from $3.50 to $5 for plant craftsmen. Salaries vary by geographical location.

The union membership had authorized its negotiators to call a strike if no agreement were reached.

The old contract expired Nov. 28. The new one, if ratified, will run through Jan. 3, 1958.

The pact increases starting minimums for long-distance operators by $2 to $4 a week, and for plant craftsmen by $2 to $5.

$662 Million Farm Receipts for State

WASHINGTON (AP)—Missourians pocketed $662,289,000 from farm marketings of livestock and its products and crops during the first nine months of this year, the Department of Agriculture reports.

They got $622,213,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Cash receipts from marketings of livestock and its products declined from $447,319,000 during the January-September period in 1955 to $445,607,000 for those months this year. Receipts from marketings of crops increased from $174,894,000 to $215,682,000.

Blaze Destroys Home in LaMonte

The home of Lee Hudson, LaMonte, was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon despite efforts of the Pettis County, LaMonte, and White man Air Force Base fire companies to extinguish the blaze.

The house, a two story frame structure, was completely gutted by the blaze. All that was left standing was the bottom section of the house, which was burned beyond repair.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours but were unable to save the house, which is located in the north end of LaMonte.

Cause of fire was undetermined as it was well in progress when discovered. Damage was estimated between $5,000 and $8,000. It is not known if insurance was carried on the house.

United Church Women Hold Last Meeting of Year

The United Church Women of Sedalia held the final meeting of the year Thursday, Nov. 29, in the chapel of the First Methodist Church with 40 members attending.

Mrs. E. D. Sutherland, retiring president, expressed her gratitude to those who had so tirelessly assisted her during her two years in office and pledged her continued support to her successors.

Mrs. A. F. Klemme was appointed chairman of registration for the state assembly of United Church Women which will convene here in May. Mrs. Luther Landis used the theme, "The Need of Secret Prayer" for a worship service. She named many great Biblical and historical characters whose greatness depended upon communion with God; who overcome their difficulties common to those who spend time each day in secret prayer.

Mrs. J. W. Watts, pianist, accompanied Mrs. M. O. Stevens and Mrs. George Lovercamp who sang, "At the Crossroads."

Mrs. Sutherland used the installation ritual "With One Heart and One Way," addressed to the outgoing officers, the continuing officers and the incoming officers and the congregation. Those installed for 1957 were: president, Mrs. Fred Rose; first vice-president, Mrs. John B. Ellison, Jr.; second vice-president, Mrs. J. F. Schumacher; secretary, Mrs. Amos Vergel; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Curry and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cecil W. Bohon.

Mrs. Browne Edelen welcomed the ministers wives presenting each a red rosebud.

At a reception and tea in the dining hall, Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Edelen served at the tea table.

Mrs. J. W. Watts gave the benediction.

$45,000 Check Bounces--*Prince From Honeymoon Suite to Jail in Colorado

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A dapper Hawaiian whose whirlwind courtship of a Denver society woman started with an "alohe" went from honeymoon suite to jail yesterday. His mink-coated bride departed in tears.

Police held the balding playboy, who claims royal blood, without charge along with three members of his official party.

His bride of five days, the former Mrs. Jane Tomberlin, flew to Denver, where she conferred with her lawyers. Greeted at the airport by reporters, she said only: "No comment."

Police Chief I. B. Bruce said the 44-year-old bride told him she would seek an annulment of her marriage to the Hawaiian, Prince Keawe, who was booked as Samuel Crowningburg-Amalu.

The former Mrs. Tomberlin wired a stop-payment notice to a Honolulu bank on which she had written a $2,800 check payable to the prince, Bruce said.

Their marriage here last Thursday climaxed a weeklong courtship that began in a Denver hotel elevator. They met when Mrs. Tomberlin smiled and bade the prince "alohe." The prince, 37, took it from there.

The police chief said detectives arrested the four men after checking reports from a confidential informant on the West Coast.

Also held without charge were Walter Parman, 24, and Fredrick W. Aykens, 44, both of San Francisco, and a 17-year-old who acted as the prince's driver.

Bruce said Parman has served terms for bad checks in the Chil-

But the clean shave brought an uproar from older children. The volunteers decided to buy better beards.

Mayor Assures Youth Indians Not in Prisons

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Mayor Jack Williams has sent a letter to a 14-year-old Polish boy, assuring him that American Indians are "not locked up in prisons and camps."

The letter was in reply to one written by Jack Ladislav, a schoolboy in Lodz, a central Poland city of about 500,000 population. Jack asked if "it is true what they are saying and writing in our papers" about the status of American Indians.

Williams wrote that Indians have a choice of living on reservations set aside for them by the Federal government or anywhere in the United States, and that reservation Indians have their own police, laws and economic system.

The youngster's letter, translated by a Polish-born Phoenix resident, read in part:

"I am interested in the living conditions of the peoples which are under your care and I am anxious to know if there are still wild Indians in your state, and if they are locked up in prisons and

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic Judge James Demopolos often had wondered if other people agreed with his verdicts. So he summoned an impromptu six-man "jury" to hear evidence against a man charged with drunken driving.

The six, chosen at random from persons in the court room, agreed unanimously that the defendant was guilty. He was fined $40.

Five minutes later the foreman of the "jury" stood before Demopolos to answer the same charges.

"You can dispense with the testimony," said the man. "I'm guilty."

He too was fined $40.

TEMPORARY GATES TO NEW TRADITION: The cadet in the closet asked, "Going up, Sir?"

Legends Spawn at New AF Academy, Where Food Is Prepared in a 'Hangar'

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

LOWRY AIR FORCE BASE, Denver, Colo. — (NEA) — Here where the U.S. Air Force Academy is teething, legends for the future are being born.

They come from the dorms, dining halls and football fields at this temporary site below the Rockies.

And they've already become a part of Academy tradition that will be handed down for years.

Take the classic caper of the cadet who recently sneaked out of his room "after lights" to visit a buddy down the hall. Unfortunately, that night an instructor made a sudden "room check."

In panic the cadet hid in a closet. But the officer had heard two voices. Suspecting something, he went to the closet and slid open the door.

The cadet stood there at attention wearing a silly grin, but he rose to the occasion with the remark:

"Going up, Sir?"

Another evening a new instructor got the treatment. He heard a door slam at one end of the dorm. Just as he started to investigate, another door was opened and shut loudly at the other end of the building and then another. Not knowing where to turn, he gave up.

Actually, these doings are exceptional, for discipline is strict and a cadet's schedule fills every minute of the day.

Officers in charge are determined that the Academy will come up to and surpass Annapolis and West Point, their Army and Navy rivals. For one thing, that means instilling freshmen with Air Force tradition. This particularly applies in the dining hall.

For example, the table is a "ramp" and the kitchen is the "hangar." At the end of each meal dishes must be passed to a crew chief, and a navigator receives all the food and obtains more by raising his right hand.

If there is no more coffee the navigator must report:

"Sir, the coffee has had a flame-

WINTER REVELLE: In Denver's cold weather, the morning count-off is indoors, but the cadets are ramrod stiff.

out," or "Sir, the coffee is on a cross-country."

Explains one officer:

"In the dining hall and elsewhere, when a freshman commits some infraction of accepted custom or makes a mistake of a serious nature, measures are taken to prevent any recurrence."

In one case a cadet accidentally opened his parachute during a training flight. A serious error, he was required to carry the ripcord handle day and night for two weeks.

In its second year of operation the Academy's student body of freshmen and sophomores totals less than 500 cadets.

Still located here at Lowry, it will be moved to its permanent location in the fall of 1958. Construction at the new site is well under way.

In two years the Academy will be playing a big league football schedule which includes the University of Iowa, Stanford, Tulane and Colorado. The first Army-Air Force game is in 1959.

This last fall the Academy's team played a number of neighborhood and two schools on the Pacific coast. They have lost one, tied on and won six.

Already a unique form of half-time entertainment has developed. It's a demonstration by the Academy mascot, a prairie falcon.

Released from high in the stands, it makes soaring passes at a lure manipulated in the middle of the field by a cadet.

The first time this was tried recently, the bird made eight passes from all directions. One dive was straight down over the main stands just three feet above the spectators' heads.

Homemakers Wash Load Climbs When Baby Arrives

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Many a young homemaker's first solid acquaintance with laundering procedures and equipment starts when she arrives home with her first baby. Her weekly wash load climbs like a jet streaking for the stratosphere.

It's no wonder that a leading research organization surveying 13,000 households found that in 21.5 per cent of the families buying automatic washing machines, the oldest child was under two years.

Recently, I discussed these findings with Mrs. Jessie Cartwright, Norge home service director, who took the survey to heart and, with her staff, has been working on the best ways and easiest means of washing baby gear.

With our youngest child just reaching the six-month mark, I have a personal interest in her suggestions plus the reports of hospital tests with home laundry equipment and the down-to-earth advice from directors of parent education at Chicago's Lying-In hospital.

Diapers are the major item in baby's wash. If you have an ample budget or a kind relative, the gift of commercial diaper service is a real boon, particularly in the early weeks.

But with automatic equipment, maintaining an ample supply of clean, home-laundried diapers is not the chore it used to be.

(Hospital tests show that diapers automatically washed and dried in an automatic dryer emerge clean and practically germ-free.)

Diapers should be washed as a separate load, every day preferably, but at least every other day. According to advice given me, soiled diapers should be rinsed and put to soak in a clean, covered pail.

New, lightweight plastic pails are easy to handle and come in pretty colors.

What to use in the soak solution? Your doctor may recommend one of several special diaper laundry aids for you. Mrs. Cartwright has had good success with a sodium perborate bleach (this contains no chlorine) solution.

Borax is another recommended substance, but with a caution from medical advisers: Don't confuse borax with boric acid. They are separate products and boric acid is not used in diaper-soak solutions. Some parent education teachers advise the simple, soap-and-water soak.

In an automatic machine, diapers are dumped together with the soak water directly into the machine. Excess water is spun out. Then the dial is reset to fill the tub with hot water and a mild soap or detergent is added. Mild soap or detergent is usually advised for laundering all items that will be in contact with a newborn's sensitive skin. The machine takes over until the diapers are ready for drying.

Thorough rinsing of all baby clothes to remove all the soap is stressed. Water conditioners added to the agitated rinse cycle do help to prevent the build-up of soap film and do cut down on the linting.

Usually, about a quarter of a cup of powder dissolved in warm water is enough. This is added manually in most machines, although one new line has a dispenser wheel which snaps on the agitator post and automatically dispenses the conditioner into the rinse.

Some authorities suggest boiling diapers once a week "to be on the safe side," but others say this is not necessary. Follow your doctor's specific instructions.

Other items in baby's wash—shirts, gowns, waterproof sheets, pads, and so on—make up another load. Conservative opinion is that it's better to wash baby clothes by themselves until baby's old enough to be creeping.

Tip from Mrs. Cartwright: put tiny baby socks, booties and such in a mesh bag to keep track of them.

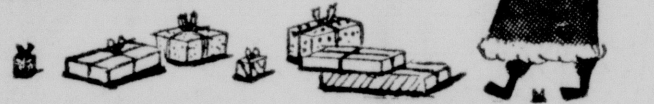

Tip from me: Unless you're sure the plastic pants can stand the dryer's heat, dry them separately (some of them will get gummy in the heat).

Wool baby sweaters, loosely woven shawls and sacques can also be machine washed if you follow the instructions in the washer booklet for the soak-wash method of handling wools. This eliminates the agitation which can cause shrinkage, matting and piling.

Sets New Member Goal—

C of C Membership Division Meets to Plan for New Year

The membership division of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday afternoon in the Chamber office with Jess Brown, director, presiding. The program of work for the year was planned and the division members agreed to hold regular monthly meetings on the first Monday of each month during 1957, except September when the meeting will be the second Monday because of the Labor Day being on the first Monday.

The goal of the membership division is 150 new members for the coming year and to maintain the existing membership which is the highest ever in the history of the Chamber. Each member of the committee will be responsible for at least six new members during the coming year, and the directors of the Chamber will also be called upon to secure new members. Prospect cards have been handed out to the members present so that work may begin immediately. The plan is to have a continuous campaign throughout the year.

Attending the meeting also were Vernon Rodick, president of the Chamber, James L. Van Wagner, Jr., second vice-president, under whose direction the division falls, Cal Rodgers, Jr., chairman of the membership committee, who gave a brief outline of the work and accomplishments which the committee hopes to make during the year and members of his committee, James Woods, Bill Fingland, Glenn Lewis, Stanton Hudson, Jr., the Rev. D. Warren Neal, Bill Ramsey, Dick Esser, Mrs. J. C. Angel, George Curnutt, Mrs. William Reinhart, Tom Menefee, Jim Cooney, P. J. Hedderich, Bill Dugan, Dan Wolf, Carl Yates, Jr., Mrs. John Welch, Jack Hawkins and Don Weller. Boyd Massey, chairman of the renewal committee, also gave a report, in which he told of the aims and activities planned by his committee. The third committee of the membership division is the finance committee of which Virgil Ragar is chairman with Mrs. Frank Wagner and Vernon Bingham as co-chairmen with him.

The meeting of the membership division is the second division that has met to make plans for its program of work for 1957. The first one was the Business Relations division of which Virgil Corson is director, which met last Wednesday.

Army Announces End To Its Pigeon Corps

WASHINGTON — Development of advanced communications devices has ended the Army's need for carrier pigeons.

The Army announced yesterday that as a result of "progress in electronic communications" it is disbanding its pigeon corps.

It said 1,000 message-carrying birds — the last of some 40,000 used in World War II and in Korea — will be put up for sale soon. The Army said its pigeon training center at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., will be closed and nine trainers reassigned.

Riesel Case May Go To Jury Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of three men charged with conspiracy in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel will go to a federal court jury late today or tomorrow morning.

Testimony was completed yesterday, and summations by defense and prosecution counsel were scheduled for today.

The men on trial—among eight accused in a blanket conspiracy indictment—are Leo Telvi, Domenico Bando and Gondolfo Miranti.

Telvi's brother Abe has been named by the prosecution as the hired thug who hurled acid into Riesel's face on a street just off Broadway in the early morning dark last April 5. Abe Telvi was found shot to death on a lower East Side street some time later.

The over-all indictment charges conspiracy to obstruct justice by attempting to intimidate a prospective witness—Riesel—from testifying before a federal grand jury investigating rackets in the trucking and the garment manufacturing industries.

Leo Telvi, Bando and Miranti are on trial on specific charges of conspiracy to conceal Abe Telvi from prosecution after the acid attack.

The defense was relatively brief. Seven witnesses were called in defense of Miranti and Telvi. Bando, who contends his constitutional rights were violated, has not participated actively in the trial.

None of the defendants took the stand during the defense of less than a day—the 15th day of the trial. If convicted, they could be sentenced to a possible maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine each.

Benjamin Thau Heads Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Benjamin Thau—a top film executive little known to the public—has been appointed administrative head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, succeeding Dore Schary.

Schary resigned last week after stockholders' complaints over lack of profits. Thau previously was vice president.

Adopt Twin Girls, Seven Months Old

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Seven-month-old twin girls have been adopted by actor Fred MacMurray and his wife, actress June Haver. The couple were married in June 1954. They have no children of their own.

Miranti's defense has been largely a contention that he was "brainwashed" into making a purported confession to the FBI. Leo Telvi contends he knew nothing of the alleged conspiracy to attack Riesel, and only tried to help his brother who he feared would be killed.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said that as soon as the current trial is over he will move to bring four other defendants to trial. They include John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, a labor racketeer named by authorities as the master mind of the alleged conspiracy.

An eighth man indicated, Joseph Carlino, pleaded guilty before the current trial started and testified for the prosecution.

Truck Driver Takes Fire to Town for Help

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—A passing motorist spotted the smoke from a truck trailer and signalled driver John Bandimier of Denver 12 miles east of town. Bandimier chose to race here rather than try to fight the blaze alone. On the way, Highway Patrolman Ray Sullivan spotted the smoking vehicle and radioed ahead to alert firemen. They met it on the outskirts of town and quickly extinguished the blaze. A defective heater was blamed.

UN Makes New Observer Call On Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Despite word that Dag Hammarskjöld plans to go to Budapest in 10 days, the U.N. Assembly early today adopted a U.S.-sponsored resolution calling again on Hungary to let in other U.N. observers to investigate conditions generally in the revolt-torn country.

The resolution, approved 51-10, asked Hungary and the Soviet Union to give the observers the green light by Dec. 7. The two Communist governments for the past month had steadfastly refused even to consider admission of a U. N. team for anything other than distribution of relief supplies.

The Assembly voted at a special session, lasting beyond midnight, at which the U. N. secretary general announced he hoped to arrive in Budapest Dec. 16 for a three-day visit. He proposed the trip three weeks ago to help set up distribution of U. N. relief. Hammarskjöld said he had arranged for U. N. Undersecretary Philippe de Seynes, a Frenchman, to leave Sunday for Budapest to complete arrangements for his own visit and to remain there with him.

Final acceptance of Hammarskjöld's plans was awaited from Hungary's pro - Moscow government. Hungarian Foreign Secretary Imre Horvath, after conferring with the secretary general last night, said he had not yet received clearance from Budapest. Informed sources said, however, approval appeared certain.

The United States welcomed announcement of Hammarskjöld's plans, but U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the Assembly his visit would not conflict with the mission of the other observers.

In the varsity, Green Ridge was off to an early lead which they maintained up until the third quarter. They led the Hubbard Tigers 13-8 in the first quarter and had a 29-22 lead at the half time. In the third period Hubbard began picking up steam and outscored Green Ridge 19-12 to knot up the score. In the fourth quarter it was up-and-down with Hubbard moving out front 18-15 for a total game score of 59-56.

G. Byrd of Hubbard was the high scorer with 10 goals for 20 points, while McFeders was next with 5 and 1 for 11 points. For Green Ridge Edmundson was top scorer with six goals and five free throws for 17 points followed by Bruns with 3-6 for 12 points.

Johnson led the scoring with seven goals, two free throws for a total 16 points followed Jones and Crockett both who had 3 to 1 for total points of seven each. For Green Ridge, Gorrell was high with 3-2 for eight points and Atkins next with 3-1 for seven points.

Auditors Add More Money In Hodge Case

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Accountants today added a million dollars in "questionable disbursements" to the Orville E. Hodge scandal, previously estimated as a 1½ million dollar drain on state funds. Hodge, former state auditor, was accused of drawing the 1½ millions through fraudulent state warrants.

About $1,028,000 was added to the amount yesterday in a special report to the Illinois Budgetary Commission by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. This firm of certified public accountants was hired to uncover details of Hodge's financial maneuvers. Their audit extended from Jan. 12, 1953, to July 18, 1956.

The additional sums were $700,734 in warrants of "questionable propriety" and $327,734 in warrants issued for travel. The Budgetary Commission received but did not act upon a final report of recommendations made by its investigators, including Albert E. Jenner, its counsel, and State Auditor Lloyd Morey.

The Jenner-Morey recommendations include enactment of a corrupt practices law setting up tight controls over political contributions and requiring an accounting of campaign spending by candidates.

The report also urged elimination of the state auditor and state treasurer as elective officers, creation of state departments of financial affairs and of administrative services, creation of a legislative auditor or commission and establishment of a permanent state crime commission.

The larger batch of "questionable disbursements" was under suspicion, the accounts said, because of the services or materials paid for, unsatisfactory explanations from payees, and failure of payee to reply to inquiries about warrants.

The other batch was questioned because the travel payments were unsupported by itemization or vouchers or because they represented additional pay or pay for overtime.

Safety Factors Null Without Safe Driving

Is higher horsepower in automobiles a safety factor? Will power brakes, improved headlights, seat belts and other "safety packages" protect you from having an accident? In commenting on these questions, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, Highway Patrol superintendent, points out that all of the advantages of these improvements on modern day automobiles are often rendered null and void by drivers who allow themselves to develop a false sense of security. Waggoner said, "Take the case of higher horsepower, for example. It's true that it improves acceleration and makes the passing of another vehicle a more efficient operation. But by the same token it oftentimes becomes a temptation for wild chance-taking which leads to disaster. Drivers must remember that every advantage has its accompanying disadvantage. For some drivers, longer range headlights mean added visibility. For others, they simply mean increased night driving speeds. For some drivers, better braking systems mean added safety, but to others, it again means higher speeds, more skidding and more smashups."

The Patrol chief pointed to the inescapable conclusion that the driver remains the decisive factor in automobile accidents and highway death. He stated that the three factors involved in traffic safety are the car, the road and the driver, and that simultaneous improvement must be made on all three counts before traffic safety can become a reality.

Man Is Shot Forcing Entry To a Home

MANSFIELD Mo. (AP)—A Bartlesville, Okla., man was shot and killed last night as he tried to force entry into the home of his father-in-law to which his wife had fled.

Warren Curtis Jones, 27, was felled by a blast from a shotgun fired by Clarence Miller, 52, Avenal, Calif. Miller was not held.

The shooting, said by officers to have climaxed a quarrel between Jones and his wife, Geneva, took place at the home of Burley C. Moody, Miller, a brother-in-law of Moody, was here visiting.

Garner Moody, Wright County prosecutor, said Mrs. Jones had fled to the home of her parents here with a 12-day-old child after her husband had beaten her. Yesterday, the prosecutor related, Jones called from Bartlesville and threatened "to kill the whole family."

Jones came here last night, parked his car about three blocks from the Moody home, picked up a shotgun and began shooting out street lights as he advanced to the Moody home.

When Jones reached the Moody home, members of the family called the prosecutor, a distant relative, and officers. When Prosecutor Moody arrived, Jones fired one shot over his head.

Officers said Jones then broke out a pane of glass in the front door. He was just reaching his hand in to open it when Miller fired at the intruder, hitting him in the right side of the face. He was killed instantly.

Sheriff Jim Baker said a partly consumed bottle of whiskey and two more guns were found in Jones' car.

An inquest will be held this afternoon.

Nasser

house when I heard air raid sirens.

I immediately realized it was a British raid. The planes were jets. So Britain did interfere in the battle. But I wanted to be absolutely sure. I went up to the roof of my house to see for myself if they were British planes. They were.

I hurried to general headquarters where we had a meeting. We decided it was imperative we must withdraw from Sinai quickly, that the battle would have to be fought west of the canal.

The night of Oct. 31 was the most dangerous period of our history. Our forces in Rafa were ordered to begin withdrawal. But simultaneously the Israelis began attacking.

Our main forces, which had moved into Sinai to stop the Israelis, were able to withdraw quickly but they were attacked by British and French planes. Damage was inflicted but mostly on cars.

The minute I was informed of the success of our withdrawal operations, I felt that Egypt had won the battle after foiling the enemy's plans.

Had we been only 24 hours later in withdrawing, we might have been finished.

But we suffered during the withdrawal. We lost 30 Czech T34 tanks from British air attacks. We also lost 50 armored cars and an armored battalion in the El 'Arish area.

But we had 200 tanks and 300 armored cars. We might have lost them all if our withdrawal plans had not been successful. But we saved the pillars of our armored strength—Centurion tanks, Stalin tanks and light tanks. All the cars we lost we have replaced from British army stores in the Suez base. There were 2,000 cars. We took them all.

Almost all of our losses occurred while withdrawing from east to west of the canal, when the air attacks intensified.

There you are.

That's the whole of the Sinai battle.

There was no real fighting except the battle of Abu Ogeila, which helped the withdrawal of our forces.

This practical experience, however, made one fact clear: the main Israeli forces failed before Abu Ogeila.

There is just one question. Why did Israel not try the conspiracy alone? If Israel was able to finish the job all alone it would have been a question of Egypt against Israel and not Egypt alone against Israel, Britain and France.

But Israel could not do anything against us. That was proved in the Sinai operation. They did not occupy one single position except after our withdrawal.

According to captured enemy documents, the aim of the Israeli forces was to reach Ismailia and contact the British and French forces there.

But God was with us.

Tipton Cage Event Enters 2nd Round

Versailles, Jamestown, Smithton Win Opening Tilts in Tourney

Tipton High's 16th annual basketball tournament was opened Tuesday night with Versailles, Jamestown and Smithton grabbing victories to move into second round play.

Jamestown's victory provided the most in thrills during the evening when the victors pulled ahead in the final minutes of play to eke a scant 57-56 win over Stover.

Versailles' advance, although anti-climatic, brought out a strong indication of that team's strength when it pounced on Hughesville for a 52-35 verdict.

The third contest, definitely close at times but always in Smithton's favor, closed at a fast scoring pace with Smithton swelling its lead to a final 64-53 command over the Climax Springs five.

The tournament will shift into the second stage of activity tonight with another three-game slate on tap.

Notre Dame Man Named Top Player

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Paul Hornung, the one bright spot in Notre Dame's most disastrous football season, yesterday was awarded the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1956.

Hornung's first reaction to receiving the trophy established in 1935 in honor of famed Coach John W. Heisman and awarded by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, was to give credit to his teammates and coaches.

"I am grateful to Terry Brennan and his coaching staff and to the team as a whole—they deserve credit for making it possible for me to have a chance for such an award," said Hornung.

The senior from Louisville, Ky., started the season at quarterback but later was forced to play halfback and fullback because of thumb injuries which hampered him in taking snap-backs from centers.

Tennessee halfback Johnny Majors was second in the balloting. Hornung received a total of 1,066 points in the poll conducted by 1,318 electors across the nation and Majors had 994 points, marking the closest finish in years.

Halfback Tommy McDonald and center Jerry Tubbs, both of Oklahoma's national champions, finished third and fourth respectively.

Hornung's selection was an exceptional tribute to his ability since Notre Dame won only two games and lost eight.

He led the Irish in rushing, passing, scoring and averaged 50 minutes a game. He was also Notre Dame's punter and one of its top defensive players.

Hornung took issue with critics who accused the Irish of showing lack of spirit.

"We had the spirit to win all the way this season," said Hornung. "But after losing the opener to Southern Methodist, maybe we lost a little confidence in each other."

"I think Brennan did as good a job, or better, this year as with his winning team of last season," he continued. "The responsibility of losing should be thrown on the players, not the coach."

"I am proud to have wound up my collegiate football career with this team. We lost. But it was Notre Dame, it had fine boys on it and it was backed by good coaching."

Eddie Machen Favored To Win Heavyweight Bout With Summerlin

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Favorite Eddie Machen is looking for a victory over Johnny Summerlin tonight to move him closer to a crack at Floyd Patterson's newly won heavyweight crown.

Jim Norris and his International Boxing Club have suggested it might be a good idea to have the 24-year-old Machen meet Hurricane Jackson to determine a heavyweight contender.

Summerlin hasn't figured in the discussion.

Machen, a Californian, is ranked sixth nationally. He is undefeated in 18 pro fights. Summerlin, 24, is ranked eighth in the NBA ratings. He is from Detroit and has a 30-6-2 record.

Meyers Wins State Title Over Dusek

The Missouri State Championship trophy held by Joe Dusek of Omaha, Neb., for the past several months, came back home Tuesday night. It was presented to Sonny Meyers, St. Joseph heavyweight who beat Dusek in the final minutes of their one-hour long scheduled event.

The two recently battled to a one-hour time limit with Meyers winning one fall. But the championship must win two of three falls before the title changes. It nearly ended in a draw as the minutes ticked away, both having won one fall.

Meyers took the first using his atomic drop and body slam in 15 minutes and 54 seconds. Then Dusek came back and after 13 minutes and 50 seconds applying body slams and press he won the second fall. The scrap was on in the final fall period, both slugging, body slamming, and doing everything in the book to win. They were nearly exhausted after 53 minutes and 49 seconds when Dusek held Meyers high over his head ready for a slam when Meyers overbalanced him and Dusek fell backwards on his back. Meyers smothered him for the fall in 14 minutes and five seconds.

The crowd was wild and Dusek was wild, and it was a good time for all.

In the Negro girls team tag event Ethel Johnson and Lula Mae Provo, Columbus, O., beat Babs Wingo and Marva Scott, also of Columbus. Johnson pinned Scott in 11 minutes and 18 seconds in the first fall period with body slams and press. Wingo came back to beat Provo in the second period with an arm stretch followed with a press in eight minutes and 56 seconds. The third fall was won by Johnson over Wingo using a series of drop kicks and body press.

The opening event went to Jim Dobbie of Independence using a Missouri bulldog twist and body press over Jimmy Lake of St. Joseph. It took nine minutes and 45 seconds.

This show concluded the 1956 series of wrestling events. The 1957 winter series gets underway on New Year's night at the Armory, Jan. 1.

Cardinal In Effort For NFL Honor

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ollie Matson, the brilliant runner of the Chicago Cardinals is making a determined last ditch effort to win ground gaining honors in the National Football League.

Matson, one of the finest all-around backs in NFL history, gained 70 yards last Sunday to increase his seasonal ground gaining total to 818 yards on 161 attempts and a 5.1 average. He is one yard behind Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears.

Casares, who has led the way in running through most of the current season, gained 45 yards as the Bears bowed to the Detroit Lions and now has 819 yards on 192 attempts for a 4.3 average. These cross-town rivals meet head-on next Sunday as the Bears and Cardinals clash in an NFL game important to the title chances of both teams.

In passing, the Bears' Eddie Brown held onto his leadership. Brown has thrown 139 passes and completed 85 for 1,481 yards, 10 touchdowns and a 61.2 percentage of completions.

In other departments: Billy Wilson, San Francisco, tops the pass receivers with 47 for 765 yards and three TDs.

Detroit's Bobby Layne maintained his scoring leadership and now has 90 points, 5 TDs, 27 conversions and 11 field goals. Casares with 78 points on 13 TDs is second.

Tom Hitt, 170-pound six-footer on the Wyoming freshman football team, is the son of Dick Hitt, former Wyoming backfield coach who now is an assistant to Bowden Wyatt at Tennessee.

Kathleen Lybrook, harness horse who finished in the money 10 times in 15 starts at Freehold, N.J., Raceway, cost owner Norman Bayley $500.

KC Sports, Boat, Travel Display Open in February

There will be more impounded water in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium during the first two weeks of February than in many western streams and lakes, as the annual Kansas City Sports, Boat and Travel Show takes over the area's sports spotlight.

The water information comes from the office of Nick Kahler, president of the show, who points out that three large indoor tanks will be used in various phases of this year's production.

of 30,000 gallons, will be located in the main arena of the auditorium, and it will be used for casting exhibits, water sports and as the stage setting for many of the great stage attractions on the entertainment program.

The second large water tank will be located on the auditorium's mezzanine floor and will be stocked with 5000 pounds of trout from the Troutdale Ranch, Gravois Mills, Missouri. Eager anglers of all ages will have the thrill of opening day trout fishing as they test their skill against that of the fighting trout. The most skillful trout fisherman will be given an award during the show.

Face Big Decision—

US Would Welcome Asylum Plea From Hungary Athletes

MELBOURNE (AP)—Hungarian olympic athletes pondering the dream of political freedom away from their revolution-torn homeland received a helpful offer to night from America.

"The United States would look with favor," said American Consul General Gerald Warner in Melbourne, "on any pleas for political asylum from any Olympic Games athletes — Hungarian or otherwise."

This statement came dramatically as many of the great names in Hungary's sports history faced a fateful 48 hours of their lives. For them this was a heart-tearing time of decision—to return to their Russian-devastated homeland or stay in Australia, far from their families but in freedom.

From Australia they could seek refuge in America. But in these next two days no decisions are expected to be announced, for all groups in sympathy with the lonely Hungarians don't want anything to occur before the games end Saturday to mar the Olympic spirit.

Responsible sources have disclosed that the Australian government will permit any athletes who seek asylum to remain in Australia until the end of January.

These rapidly breaking developments in the Hungarian situation took place as quiet efforts were pushed to protect those Hungarians wanting to defect. There have been reports that from 15 olympic athletes pondering the dream of political freedom away from their revolution-torn homeland received a helpful offer to should take.

Some already have decided to stay. Others notified Hungarian anti-Communist elements in Australia they would stay but now are wavering. Others are just keeping silent until Friday, when the first of two chartered planes take off from Melbourne's Essendon Airport with members of the Hungarian Olympic team.

One noted Hungarian athlete, former world record breaker Janos Somogyi, a walker, has openly stated he would seek refuge in Australia. He said he believed about 30 other Hungarian athletes would follow him.

US Athlete Breaks World Swim Record

MELBOURNE (AP)—George Breen of Buffalo cracked the world record for the 1,500-meter free style in a qualifying heat today as U.S. swimmers tried to keep pace with Russia's powerful fringe-sport point machine in the race for the unofficial Olympic team title.

Breen bettered the 17:59.5 record held by Australia's Murray Rose with a 17:52.9 clocking, but was the only Yank to qualify for Friday's final in the event.

The U.S. scored a grand slam in the women's 100-meter butterfly final with Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., winning the gold medal in 1:11 flat.

Another Yank girl, Carin Cone of Ridgewood, N.J., shared an Olympic record with a 1:12.9 clocking in the 100-meter backstroke, but the gold medal went to Britain's Judy Grinham.

Women swimmers tried on Olympic records like spring hats in the 400-meter free style. The record was cracked five times. Australia's Lorraine Crapp finally topped the others with a 5:00.2 time in the fourth and final preliminary heat. Marley Shivers of Glendale, Calif., with 5:07.6, and Sylvia Ruuska of Berkeley, Calif., qualified for Friday's final.

The United States also picked up 17 points in the yachting finals, winning a gold medal in the star class with Kathleen, skippered by Herb Williams of Evanston, Ill. John Marvin, Marblehead, Mass., won a third place bronze medal in the Dinghy fin class.

But elsewhere it was all Russia.

Soviet women won the team gymnastics title and picked up a pair of individual gold medals. The United States was last.

Romania and Canada took the final two gold medals in shooting, but Russia was an easy team winner for the seven events.

Russia smacked the Americans 3-1 in water polo and also advanced to the soccer final against Yugoslavia.

American entries couldn't get through the semifinals of the individual sabre fencing competition. And all five surviving Yanks were eliminated in the third round of Greco-Roman wrestling tournament.

In an important sidelight to the Olympics, U.S. Consul General Gerald Warner said the United States "would look with favor" on any pleas for political asylum from any athlete at the games. And a number of Hungarians admitted they were considering such a move.

New Aero-Train Races For Fire Department

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's slick new Aero-train really highballed — he had a date with a fire department.

The rear car of the 10-car diesel powered passenger train caught fire near here. Crewmen hastily moved passengers to forward cars and sounded alarm by radio telephone. At Portage, four miles away, firemen extinguished the blaze, no one was hurt and the train continued to New York with the damaged car attached.

US Relay Team Tops Record In Dual Meet

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The U. S. 2-mile relay team tonight bettered the world record with a clocking 7 minutes 23 seconds in a dual meet between American and British Commonwealth track and field Olympians.

The American relay squad was anchored by Tom Courtney, the Olympic 800-meter gold medalist from Livingston, N. J., and finished 80 yards ahead of the Commonwealth squad, comprised of British runners.

The recognized record for the 2-mile haul is 7:25.2 by a Southern Pacific (Calif) AAU team, set last May 26 at Modesto, Calif.

Jerome Walters of Los Angeles ran the opening leg and passed the baton to Lon Spurrier of Delano, Calif., who opened a 30-yard lead before handing off to Arnie Sowell of Pitt. Sowell nearly tripled the lead and Courtney, who won a second gold medal on the winning 1,600-meter relay team last week, then put on a terrific burst of speed to knock off a desperate bid by Derek Johnson, the Britisher who almost beat Courtney for the Olympic 800-meter crown.

North Dakota is one of the five original members of the North Central Intercollegiate Conference, organized late in 1921.

Southern California placed quarterback Frank Hall and back Jon Arnett.

UCLA end Pete O'Garro and back Don Shinnick; College of Pacific tackle John Nisby and guard Galen Laack and California guard Don Gilkey.

Southern Methodist, Washington and Oklahoma are each represented by two men—SMU by end Tom Gentry and guard Smith Keller, Washington by tackle George Strugar and back Dean Derby, and Oklahoma by tackle Tom Emerson and back Bill Pricer.

Others of the 23 named yesterday included center Galen Wahlmeier, Kansas.

Loses Tribal Wampum

92 Bowlers In All-Star Semi-Finals

CHICAGO (AP)—Ninety-two of the nation's top men and women bowlers, survivors of preliminary rounds, start shooting today in the tough semi-finals of the all-star bowling tournament.

The 46 men qualifiers among the 153 shooters in the 24-game first rounds, will roll 12 games today. A similar number of women qualifiers in 16 games fired by 64 shooters will roll eight games.

The 14 leaders in the semi-finals enter the finals, to start tomorrow and run through Sunday. Joining the 14 in each division will be the men's and women's tourney champions of the last two years.

In the men's group they are defending champion Bill Lillard of Chicago and Steve Nagy of Detroit, 1954-55 winner. The 14 women finalists will be joined by defending champion Anita Cantalino of Detroit and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, titleholder in 1954-55.

Both holders of first place in the preliminary rounds held fairly wide leads as the firing opened in the semi-finals.

Dick Weber, 26-year-old St. Louis shooter who finished fourth in last year's tourney, was 86 pins ahead of Bob Kwolek of Detroit. Jere Price, attractive 24-year-old housewife of Fort Worth, Tex., had a 76-pin margin over Arlene Eck, a former softball pitcher of St. Paul, Minn.

Weber continued his hot streak yesterday as he rolled 1,264 to give him a 24-game total of 5,002—an average of better than 208. Almost stealing the spotlight yesterday was shapely Bobbie Shaler of Culver City, Calif., who fired a 289 game, the highest ever rolled by a woman in the all-star tournament's eight year history.

The 289 replaced the 279 former mark held jointly by Mrs. Merion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Olga Gloor of Chicago.

Qualifier for the semi-finals included Tom Hennessey and Don Carter of St. Louis, Carl Richard of Parsons, Kan., and LaVerne Carter of St. Louis.

Jeans Out at School

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—The Fairview Township School Board has banned the wearing of "jeans, chinos, slacks and trouser-like attire" in class by girls attending grades 7 through 12. The Parent-Teachers Assn., called such attire "unladylike."

Spells Wrong in Sign

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"How do you spell bourbon?" the man on the telephone asked. "B-o-u-r-b-o-n," answered the man at the whisky firm. "Well," said the caller, "you better tell that painter doing the new sign on your roof. He's spelling it burbon."

Mrs. Earl Crawford Tells About Origin of Christmas Customs

A very delightful story of "Christmas Customs" was told by the speaker at the evening, Mrs. Earl Crawford, at the annual Christmas party and dinner of the Sedalia Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held Tuesday night in the Magnolia Room of the Bothwell Hotel.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Margaret Bohon, president, and invocation was given by Miss Ella Peithman.

Mrs. Crawford was introduced by her sister, Mrs. Mary Maddox, and began her story by telling the meaning of Christmas. It is a time she said of charity, love and peace on earth. It is a miracle day when families gather to renew their faith—a miracle day that never grows old and is always looked forward to. Who can resist the lighted Christmas tree, the gifts, the carols, the cards, the decoration that goes into making Christmas at home. But our Christmas customs, she pointed out, are a mixture of pagan and Christian.

At the first Christmas there were no bells, no Santa, no feast—only a star that led the Magi far to give gifts, not to receive.

Here in America the Christ in Christmas is becoming more and more significant but in many other countries Christmas has been always around the Christ child. In many homes in this country today are the nativity scenes and this the French brought to us. She then read the Christmas story and said that through the Bible records, the first carols were sung by a chorus of angels. Carols have been sung down through the centuries, and she said, even now in some parts of the world people must sing their carols in hiding. Our Christmas carols, Mrs. Crawford said, have come from many different countries but truly American is the carol "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."

She told legends of the evergreens and then said that the origin of the Christmas tree was credited to Martin Luther who was wandering around outside one night and looked up at an evergreen tree outlined against a starry sky. It looked like there was a star on every branch so he went back home, got an evergreen for his children and put a candle on each branch. The star at the top of the tree, the speaker said, is of course the star of Bethlehem.

Decorations are pagan, she said, for the pagan's first used ornaments on evergreen boughs. It was not until the 16th century, Mrs. Crawford continued, that evergreen for decoration was sanctioned by the church and it was the 19th century that they were finally allowed to be brought into the church.

Santa, said Mrs. Crawford, is very American. He was born here and can trace his ancestry to the colonial days. St. Nicholas was tall and thin and wore a black robe. He took gifts to the good children and switches for the bad. He came here from Germany, Belgium and Holland. It was 13 centuries before that that St. Nicholas really lived, and he was kind and good and did give gifts to the children. Kriss Kringle was the name given this individual in Germany.

For 100 years in America he grew from folk lore that intermingled. The Dutch gave him a name, the Swedes his reindeer, the English his chimney, and Washington Irving made him chubby and jolly. In 1823 he became very real in America when Clement Moore wrote for his children, "The Night Before Christmas" giving him everything. In 1897, Mrs. Crawford said, a famous cartoonist by the name of Thomas Nast drew a picture of Santa Claus. He worked for years trying to make the right type of drawing. It was he who changed the suit to red.

The stocking custom seems to have come from France, Mrs. Crawford said, and the children

New Directory for Sedalia, Pettis County Is Published

The new city directory for Sedalia, which includes Pettis County has been published by the R. L. Polk and Co., and delivery of the directories began Nov. 28.

There are approximately 17,128 names in the directory with the minimum age limit 18 years old. The names are listed alphabetically and this is the only record that aims to show the name, marital status, occupation and address of each adult resident in Sedalia, and name official personnel, nature and address of each firm and corporation in the city.

The householders directory designates tenant-owned homes and the homes and places of businesses having telephones. There are also numerical telephone directory yellow pages, classified business directory and Pettis County directory.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 8.

Rehearing Denied For Rock Island Line

A request for a rehearing of the Rock Island railroad's proposal to discontinue passenger trains between Kansas City and Eldon has been denied by the state public service commission.

The PSC originally dismissed the railroad's petition over a month ago, noting that removing the passenger trains would leave several Missouri cities without any form of public transportation.

The Rock Island had announced that if its request for a rehearing was denied, an appeal to Cole county circuit court was planned.

This directory is not just for local distribution. It gets around nationally as copies of each new edition are sent to replace the old in directory libraries throughout the United States. This acquaints outsiders with the city, its people and products.

The local library location is the Chamber of Commerce office, 113 East Fourth, where anyone wishing information may look it up in poria, Kan.; Fayetteville, Ark.; Great Bend, Kan.; Hannibal, St. Joseph, Mo.; Northeast Johnson County, Hutchinson, Independence, Dodge City, Leavenworth, Kan.; North Platte, Neb.; Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Salina, Kan.; St. Charles, Mo.; Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Ark., and many others.

The R. L. Polk and Co. is located at 600 Keystone Bldg., 1320 Main, Kansas City, Mo.

INJURY TO SPINE IS LIKE BLITZKRIEG

By Dr. J. J. Rodewald

The spinal cord is like a telephone cable only more complex than any ever devised by man. Nature considers this structure so important that she encases it in sections of bone known as vertebrae; and the all important central, the brain, in a shell of bone.

Four hundred and fifty trillion individual nerve fibers composing the spinal cord carry a constant stream of messages between the brain and all parts of the body. All function in the body is coordinated and controlled by these messages sent from the brain.

The first aim of a "blitzkrieg" is to disrupt communication systems, thus throwing the enemy into a state of turmoil and lowering their resistance. Injury to the spine likewise upsets the delicate communication systems, disrupting function in the body, and exposing it to disease. Chiropractic deals with nerves. Investigate what it can do for your health. Phone 392, TODAY, for an appointment.

Christmas Trees Branch Into $60 Million Business

NEW YORK — (NEA) — By Christmas Eve this year, Americans will have bought, braced, finessed, festooned and lighted 30 million Christmas trees.

And into the pockets of lumbermen, trainmen, truckmen and salesmen will go the cost of U. S. evergreen decor — $60 million.

In 1955 families paid from $4 to $6 for trees that swept close to the home ceilings.

As hallmarks of the Christmas spirit, gaily-bedecked trees are a tradition few families ignore. Use of a tree as part of the festive setting has grown since the Eighth Century when a missionary in Germany replaced sacrifices to the idols with decorated trees in honor of the birth of the Child.

Today, the U. S. states bordering Canada, with the exception of North Dakota, grow about 75 per cent of America's Christmas trees.

Less than 10 per cent of the trees come from plantations especially developed and managed for Christmas tree growth.

One leader in the Christmas tree industry, Roy Halvorson, brings more than a million diminutive holiday trees out of the forest wilds of northern Minnesota each year.

The Halvorson trees are harvested from dwarf spruce on a sprawling 60,000 acres in northern Minnesota. But the dwarf spruce are only one of a variety of evergreens favored for Yuletide use.

Depending on the section of the country, the Christmas tree may be Douglas fir, balsam, fir, black spruce, red cedar, white spruce and Scotch pine.

And if you are worrying about depleting our evergreen tree resources, don't. Foresters and conservationists agree that most trees cut for holiday use would have to be cut anyway to make room for other trees to mature. "Tree King" Halvorson cuts only five per cent of his 60,000 acreage each year.

Crash Photos Work Well For City Judge in Safety Drive

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (NEA) — Two dozen grisly 30x40-inch accident photographs showing twisted, bloody wreckage and smashed bodies from crackups which have occurred on Rochester streets, hang high up in the courtroom of City Judge John P. Lomenzo for all to see.

This is the Judge's mute lecture on safe driving entitled "Speed Kills, or, One Picture Is Worth a Thousand Words."

It's a good lecture to remember during this holiday period of visiting relatives and friends. Ice, snow, rain and sleet are season's hazards.

"Photographs in print and on display are probably the most effective means we have for promoting traffic safety," says the judge.

Each photo shows an accident scene on key Rochester streets and highways familiar to most local residents who sit in his courtroom.

Although the display has been hanging only a few months and Judge Lomenzo cannot specifically estimate its effectiveness in re-deaths, the plan is being studied with interest.

Eldorado Club Meets

The Eldorado Extension Club met Nov. 28, opening with a song. A true and false clothing quiz was held.

Mrs. Cletis Allen read Mrs. Zimmerman's letter. Mrs. Gene Wells was appointed health chairman.

Mrs. Gene Wells, Green Ridge, and Mrs. Charles Bon, Windsor, joined the club. There were seven members present who answered roll with "My Hobby."

The Christmas party will be at the home of Mrs. Forrest Rice with a grab bag for children.

Old Fashioned Skills May Pay for Girls

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

College girls casting about for a career may find that the big money these days lies in grand-ma's old-fashioned domestic skills—cooking and sewing.

Next week, for example one of the nation's best cooks will hit the jackpot for $25,000, plus an all-expense tour of Europe for two, plus a subsequent tour of the United States, by finishing first in that annual Kitchen Olympics, the Pillsbury Bakeoff. This is the yearly baking marathon at which 100 prize cooks from all sections of the country, plus Alaska and Hawaii, line up at 100 electric ranges in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and bake like mad for the grand prize.

This year a schoolgirl or boy or a young bride may win the big money, since all will compete on an equal basis for the top prize, formerly limited to senior contestants. Finalists this time range in age from 13 to 75 or over. There are two high school boys in the lineup and one genial gentleman who flings a mean cake batter.

Secondary prizes bring the grand total up to $100,000, plus an electric range for each contestant, plus, of course, the trip to New York.

Then, next June some lady who is handy with her sewing machine will rake in another $25,000 as grand prize in the Singer Sewoff, another annual event which puts the home seamstress in the upper income brackets. As in the Bakeoff, runners-up get prizes which run into a six-figure total.

In between times there are junior dressmaking contests which pay off in thousands-dollar checks and college scholarships and regional cooking contests where the prizes are neither blue ribbons, nor hay, but cold cash in important amounts.

Banks May Raise Rate Of Interest on Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Starting Jan. 1, federally insured commercial banks may pay 3 per cent interest on savings accounts and certain other deposits.

The government yesterday authorized the increase from the current 2 per cent ceiling in a move aimed at spurring savings and making available more money for capital investment.

The increase applies not only to savings account, but to time deposits and certificates which run longer than six months. Those between 90 days and six months now may carry 2½ per cent interest, up from 2 per cent.

Mostly Oriental Population--

Mr. and Mrs. Banks Tell Sorosis About Life in Hawaiian Islands

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Banks, 2009 East Broadway, who went to Hawaii for a couple of months to visit their son and stayed a year, gave a very interesting and colorful story of their year in Hawaii at Sorosis Monday afternoon.

The population, she said, is mostly oriental, with only 10,000 pure blood Hawaiians, and about 15 per cent white people. The homes, she said, are not usually painted in light colors like here because the scenery is so beautiful that it isn't necessary. Flowers grow in abundance and there are growing vines, trees and shrubs everywhere. The Garden Clubs there have not allowed bill boards to mar the beauty of the scenery, there are no billboards and only attractive small signs telling where things may be found.

One of the interesting things shown was a meeting of the Camera Club. This club meets every Thursday and people are encouraged to take pictures in Hawaii. Hawaiians are at the meeting in costume to be photographed. Mr. and Mrs. Banks had pictures of the performance. The older Hawaiian women play while the younger ones dance. There is, she pointed out, always a clown. The clowns are women and this one was in a loose fitting large flowered dress which many of the women there wear. It is called a muumuu. If it reminds you of the old time Mother Hubbard worn in the United States many, many years ago, it is. The first missionaries went to Hawaii at the time when Mother Hubbards were the fashion and finding the people there wearing no clothes, although they were certainly not heathens, the missionaries cut material by the Mother Hubbard patterns and put them on the natives.

The first day of May is Lei Day. This is a big celebration with the crowning of a queen, hula dancer and celebrities. The costumes and colors are very beautiful with the dancers in matching dresses, sometimes in vivid blue, sometimes red, sometimes yellow and all other colors, and always leis of fresh flowers and flowers in their hair.

There are solo dancers, too, and singing. The performers never sing and dance at the same time.

The next day observed was Memorial Day and the cemetery, called the Punch Bowl named perhaps because of its resemblance to a punchbowl from a distance. Here are buried the American service men who died in World War II. On every grave is a flag and school children make leis, which is a garland of flowers and on the morning of Memorial Day Boy Scouts place a lei around each flag.

There was an observance honoring King Lunalila, too, first Christian ruler. He did not want to be buried with other kings when he died because he was a Christian so a mausoleum was built for him and it had been allowed to decay. The mausoleum had been cleaned and repaired while Mr. and Mrs. Banks were there and opened to the public for the first time. This brought about the celebration. There was also a celebration for King Kamehameha, first ruler of all the Hawaiian Islands. There was much pageantry and the priest wore a cape of yellow and red bird feathers, which, except for such occasions, is kept in a museum. Of course, Mrs. Banks said, there are no longer any kinds.

One of the most interesting things Mrs. Banks told of was the hukilau which was a fishing festival and it was a very gay time.

There were shows with a stunt man showing the easiest way to open a coconut. The dancing girls and the bringing in of the fish in a net. They then gave the fish away to whoever wanted them, because they believed that to be good luck. The Mormons gave two hulaus a year and one of the features was roasted pig. The pigs were cooked with hot lava rocks. They were put in chicken wire which had been sterilized. Hot rocks were put inside the pigs first, then in the chicken wire they were placed on the hot rocks where they were roasted. There were banana stalks and leaves over the rocks to provide moisture, she said, not for flavor. Then wet gunnysacks were put over the wire and the pigs were then steamed.

They were served with other food at long tables, some low with cushions to sit on at each place and others were high with chairs. You could sit either place.

The next celebration was Aloha Week when everybody takes a week off to celebrate and it is something like our State Fair, Mrs. Banks said. They go out for programs during the noon hour in the downtown streets, and it is a beautiful festival with parades and shows, band concerts, and there are band concerts in the parks every Sunday. The cos-umes are beautiful, copies of the kings and queens old costumes, and in the parades are floats and lovely girls in costume on horses. There are night attractions, too. The homes are built on the mountain sides and at night look like huge lighted Christmas trees, Mrs. Banks said.

There are huge parades on Armed Forces Day and at Christmas time even the buses are painted to represent gifts tied with ribbon and on them is painted in big letters: "Season's Greetings." There are Christmas trees with unusually beautiful decoration and there are creative Christmas arrangements too. The New Year's celebration is a great display of fireworks because the Chinese invented gunpowder and there are many Chinese there.

There are no dull moments, concluded Mrs. Banks, ever in Hawaii. Mr. and Mrs. Banks were introduced by Mrs. Chester Wolfe, history and literature chairman.

Mrs. Harold Dean, president, presided over the meeting and Mrs. George T. Lockett announced the next meeting which will not be until Jan. 7. At that time William Hopkins, district manager of the State Farm Insurance in Sedalia, and formerly with the FBI, will be the speaker. He will talk on "Operations and Functions of FBI". There will be a luncheon with reservations to be in by Friday, Jan. 4th.

The first United States census was taken in 1790. It listed 3,929,214 inhabitants.

SPEAKER FOR BPWC — Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley College will be the guest speaker for the Business and Professional Women at their meeting Thursday.

Survey Shows Few Famous People Followed Ambitions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Don't worry too much if your teen-age children can't decide what they want to be—or appear set on some goal you believe impossible.
Surveys of famous people show that few actually followed the career of their first choice. Most abandoned a youthful dream, and won renown or wealth later in a widely different field.
Think how different the world would be if everybody stuck to his first dream!
Adolf Hitler might be a noted landscape painter. Harry S. Truman would be known as a Medal of Honor winner instead of the most vocal former occupant of the White House. Dwight D. Eisenhower, had he gone to Annapolis, as he originally intended, might be running a battleship instead of the U. S. government. Winston Churchill's novels might be selling almost as well as those of Mickey Spillane.
The truth is that the man who decides early in life what he wants to be—and sticks to that decision—is likely to be less well known

Rev. D. M. Bryan Aids Hungarian Refugees

The Rev. David M. Bryan, former pastor of the First Christian Church here, now pastor of University Christian Church, Chicago, Ill., arranged for a refugee family from Hungary to begin a new life on a farm near Pomona, Mo., in Howell County.
Mr. Bryan in his younger years lived there and is benefactor to Mr. and Mrs. Lafas Purzittay and their six children. He can speak English. Older children in the family will attend school and the father said, "At least they won't be cold as there's ample wood." Four other children in their family, he stated, starved to death in the years of Soviet domination.
Clothing for the family was being secured from neighbors as after being flown to America it was found they had but few possessions.

Disney Child Star Makes Movie Return

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A star at 6, retired at 13, Luana Patten is making a comeback at 18 years. And doing right nicely, thanks. Luana, the lovely Long Beach, California lass who starred in Walt Disney films of a decade ago such as "Song of the South" and "So Dear to My Heart." She and Bobby Driscoll were the first human actors put under contract by Disney when he turned to live-action films.

For five years, she and Bobby went to school on the Disney lot, acted in films and toured the country to help sell them. She did some radio and TV, then came to a wise decision.

"I was getting by in my studies," she said, "but it was hard to break off from acting and go to my lessons. I figured the important thing was for me to get an education without any outside interference. Then if I still wanted to be an actress, I could come back to it."

So she left her career at 13 and went back to school. Last June she graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Long Beach and notified her agent she was ready to work. Within a matter of days, she was signed to star in "Rock, Pretty Baby" at Universal-International and "Johnny Tremaine" at Disney's.

What's more, U— liked her so much in "Rock" that her option was picked up and she was signed to a term contract. Now she's playing opposite Jock Mahoney in "Joe Dakota."

Of all the former child stars I have known, Luana is the most level-headed. She has an uncommon amount of common sense for a girl of 18, and I believe her return to a non-movie life had much to do with that.

Most kids who grow up in the movie business are pawed and pampered so they never grow up in a normal existence. As a result, they become immature adults with multiple marriages and much unhappiness.

"I think it was good that I stayed out of pictures while I was growing up," she said. "When I came back, they could see that I was grown up and wouldn't think of me in little-girl roles."

Yes, indeed, there is no doubt that our Luana has grown up. A cheesecake session in the photo gallery provides ample evidence.

She still shows no tendency to go Hollywood. When she's not working, she hustles home to Long Beach. And when she is working, she does no dating.

Danny Kaye Tells UNICEF Story on TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Kaye, a man who hurdles language barriers with the greatest of ease, has given television one of its finest 90 minutes. The occasion was "The Secret Life of Danny Kaye" on See It Now (CBS-TV) Sunday.

Kaye's secret life turned out to be most uncomplicated. He loves children. He also happens to be one of the merriest and most imaginative pantomimists alive. So he took his love and his talent on a 50,000-mile tour of 10 foreign countries, accompanied by a camera crew, as an unsalaried and undignified representative of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The result, as viewed by the television audience on Edward R. Murrow's See It Now, was an extraordinarily moving dramatization of an often forgotten fact. The only great international laughter is laughter. Children speak it most eloquently. More than half convinced that most adults are idiots, they'll go more than half way to laugh at one who purposefully makes an idiot of himself.

Superior photography furnished striking evidence of what UNICEF is doing in such diverse places as Nigeria and Yugoslavia and Morocco. Had See It Now belabored the purpose and nature of UNICEF further, the result would have been tedious. As it was, Kaye has made many millions of Americans receptive to the purposes of that most worthy organization.

For Kaye and the cameras demonstrated another often forgotten fact. Children are alike everywhere. In faces and reactions they cannot be separated into nations and creeds. Often during the program it was impossible to tell in what country Kaye was performing as the cameras searched the rapt faces of his audiences.

One wishes, of course, that Kaye would consent to embrace television as a constant medium. But it might be even better for the world if he were sent abroad into it to organize all its children to laugh down all the adult idiots who are trying to run it these days.

In December: Become Safety Conscious

We are now in a month during which great stress will be placed on highway safety, particularly preceding and during two holiday periods when traffic will be heavy and weather may be bad.

There are no other holidays during a year when drinking of intoxicants is so pronounced and imbibers develop such a superiority complex over their ability to drive automobiles.

The nation is on the last lap of setting a record for deaths, injuries and property damage which is appalling. The pity of it is the public indifference to a condition which is accepted with a fatalistic attitude as though highway slaughter is a natural law which man cannot control.

The facts of death are everybody's business and just as many types of disease have been minimized or conquered before and during the lifetime of millions now living, so can death by accident be minimized or conquered in our time.

To accomplish this the minds of the whole population of automobile drivers must be indoctrinated with moral responsibility for individual and group safety measures, just the same as we have accepted inoculation and vaccination to restrain the spread of smallpox, diphtheria, polio and other man-killing diseases.

But first the public must want to do something about the accident problem, not only on the highways but around homes and factories, on the streets and playgrounds, accidents which in the age group from 5 to 14 account for more than 24 deaths per 100,000 population while cancer accounts for only 6, pneumonia for 3, and polio for 2; and in the age group 15 to 24, 58 deaths by accidents, 9 from cancer, 9 from tuberculosis.

Medical men are doing a masterful job conquering and curing diseases; also patching up the mistakes of carelessness which cause accidents.

There are plenty of so-called mishaps over which individuals become victims of another's neglect. Therefore the least anyone can do is practice safety measures in those situations over which we do have control in prevention of deaths or injuries.

December is the last month of the year, but should be the first in which the public becomes eagerly safety-conscious because this period needs the marshaling of all our resources to prevent accidents.

Kickback Witnesses on Far East Junket

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The current junket to Thailand by members of Congress to attend the inter-parliamentary union has a couple of interesting coattail riders.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Swanson, who four years ago figured in this column when Congressman Ernest Bramblett, Republican of California, was reported to have received kickbacks from his secretarial staff and others. Among the others was Mrs. Margaret Swanson who began drawing $4,700 a year from the congressman in 1949, though she never went near his office.

Later Bramblett was tried by the Justice Department and convicted of taking salary kickbacks.

Among those who testified was Mrs. Swanson who told the court that she was placed on Bramblett's payroll to "remove the sting of criticism" from the fact that the congressman's wife had been on the payroll.

She admitted on the witness stand that she gave FBI agents the impression that she did some work for Bramblett, though she had not. She claimed that when she told the FBI none of her salary was kickbacked to the congressman she "honestly felt" the cash went to Mrs. Bramblett.

Her husband, Irving Swanson, also testified to having helped arrange for his wife to draw a check as Bramblett's secretary, then turn cash back to Bramblett.

Swanson was then Republican minority clerk in the House of Representatives. More recently he has been a member of the campaign brain trust of the GOP national committee and an advisor to right-wing Republican senators.

Now he has turned up, with Mrs. Swanson, as a member of the U. S. delegation staff attending the interparliamentary union in Bangkok, Thailand. Just how two people who were parties to payroll finagling in Congress should be peerless examples of the parliamentary system in the USA might be hard for foreign countries to understand.

Help For Hungary

Dry cleaners and laundrymen around the nation are following the lead of the Washington, D. C., Laundry and Dry Cleaning Association in helping collect clothes for the Hungarian people.

Tom Doster, president of the Laundry-Dry Cleaning Association of Gastonia, N. C., has just telephoned to say that his members had started a drive to collect clothes, clean them, and start them on their way to Vienna, now the center of Hungarian refugees.

This was followed by a telegram from James A. Stoddard, president of the Dry Cleaners Guild of New Jersey at Waldick, N. J., stating that his organization had just sent a telegram to Governor Meyner of New Jersey, pledging the New Jersey Dry Cleaners to clean clothing free of charge and transport it to any designated point in New Jersey en route to the freedom fighters of Hungary.

Unpredictable Revolt

Here and there complaints are being voiced against the Central Intelligence Agency on the score that it had no advance notice of the Hungarian revolt.

The CIA ought not to be above criticism when it is warranted any more than any other governmental agency. But its performance cannot be measured by unreasonable standards.

All the evidence we have from Europe so far is that neither the Soviet Union nor the Hungarians themselves anticipated the rebellion which erupted in student riots in late October.

The reports indicate the uprising was a spontaneous conflagration which was fed by a succession of repressive measures by Soviet armed forces attempting to cope with the outbreak. It gathered momentum steadily until suddenly, to the surprise of Hungarians and Russians alike, a full-fledged revolt was in progress.

Since on the morning of Oct. 22 no one in the Kremlin itself knew what was about to happen and the Hungarians were not planning anything—it seems a trifle unrealistic to demand of the CIA that it should have known what was going to develop.

Let's chide the CIA or any other agency for not doing a job. But let's not require that it foresee the unforeseeable.

Adlai's Announcement Emphasizes Need

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—There never was any doubt — after Adlai Stevenson's second defeat by President Eisenhower — that he was washed up as a presidential candidate.

So his announcement yesterday saying "so only emphasized that for the next four years the Democrats will have no one man to point to as their leader.

The only question — after Stevenson's political epitaph was written in the Nov. 6 election returns — was not whether he would like a third try but when he would say he was through.

Delaying the announcement would have done no good for him or the party. If he had delayed, in the hope he might continue as party leader, he would have been disillusioned in a hurry.

There was no reason for the Democrats to take guidance from a man who suffered two overwhelming disasters, particularly this year when the Democrats as a whole came out ahead of the Republicans.

On a practical day-by-day basis from now on the party leadership will be shared by two Texans: Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Democrats' Senate leader, and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

They'll have the job of guiding the Democrats in Congress toward establishment of a record on which the party can appeal to the voters in the 1958 congressional elections and in the 1960 presidential race.

You Can't Always Tell--

Today's Poll Takers Run Into Mighty Funny Answers

By Joseph A. Dear

Of Our Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — It is easy to foresee, on the basis of nothing more than one backward glance, that fashionable political journalism of the future will practically ignore the politician.

The trend toward this type of coverage, which was detectable in the last campaign, probably results from the impact of television and polling organizations on reporting. Because of television, newspapers put more emphasis on interpretive writing. You get the inside-inside story instead of mere picture on the TV screen. The pollsters, of course, wander about gathering their data so that you'll know what's going to happen before you read the inside story of what did happen.

Thus after the election one very successful newspaper featured a story saying the whole thing was actually accomplished at a secret meeting which presidential aide Sherman Adams went to many months earlier.

One important paper of immense resources did its own poll taking on a vast basis. It also reported the activities of the candidates. But at least one pair of syndicated columnists concentrated on poll taking, and let the candidates alone.

Some of the copy was very readable. And doubtless pulse feeling by pollsters can be defended, mathematically and otherwise.

But the odd aspect of these stories is that the pollsters found so many articulate voters willing to express coherent reasons why they were for or against a candidate. It is the experience of most reporters that such birds are rare.

Here are examples to illustrate: During the Democratic convention a cab driver asked a colleague who he was for. Without waiting for an answer the hacker said he was for Harriman. Stevenson, he said, had gone overboard on civil rights.

A woman who supported Henry Wallace in 1948 was for Douglas MacArthur in 1952. There's no point in reciting the reasons.

A Southern Republican was against Joe McCarthy because J. Edgar Hoover "had no use for him." (Actually they were good friends.)

Some Communists did worm their way into the Institute of Pacific Relations. But when the late Senator Pat McCarran opened his attack on that organization he lost the support of a warm admirer. She had attended IPR sponsored dances at Stanford University many years before, and she knew there were no Reds at those dances.

A former Newark Republican still is for Harry Truman. He once saw the former President down a bourbon highball, and liked the way he drank.

Now how can a poll pretend confidence if the outcome of an election depends on votes that are swayed by such irrelevances. Of course, the pollsters will argue that large samplings will take care of occasional oddity.

But many voters — and this too is the experience of most reporters — have the idea that their thoughts are their own business. Period. The normal voter is apt to be close mouthed. If he thinks he has to talk he may be tempted to tell you what he thinks you want to hear. And that may not be what he thinks.

A politician or reporter who has intimate knowledge of a particular area may sense opinion, and supplement what is sensed by questioning. And even then there is the chance of ugly surprise.

But, really, is there any reason to suppose that poll takers from "foreign" areas could do much better?

"MOMMIE," SAID THE little girl, "I think my allowance should be raised from 25 cents to 50 cents, since Christmas is coming."

A little later she went to her dad. "Daddy," she told him, "Mommie raised my allowance."

"Who raised your allowance?" questioned the mother, "I think you were the one who raised it," and the little girl smiled.

After all, it didn't make any difference who raised it—she was going to get 50 cents instead of 25 cents.—H.L.

A MAN with a grandson about 11 years old called his wife one day recently and told her he had found an electric train which he thought she might like to look at.

"And which one of the boys is the electric train to be for?" she questioned.

"Well, I expect all three," replied the man, "the boy, the father and granddad."—H.L.

In many instances the medicines which are available are quite effective, especially in acute glaucoma. While they may have to be taken for a long time this is considerably better than losing the sight. Sometimes an operation is necessary and there are several types. Police figured whoever stole Craig's car at Lake City found his address and house key in it and came here to add to the loot.

The Mature Parent—

Let's Explain to Children What It Is We Laugh At

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Because Pammy is four years old, her awareness of birthdays is as intense as it is new. When she heard that one was due for her father, she became so excited that she was allowed to help make his cake on the big day. She turned the flour mill, put eggshells in the garbage pail, sprinkled shredded coconut on the cake's mocha icing. Somewhere along the way, her mother, supervising Pammy's activities, mentioned the cake's "ingredients."

Later at dinner as her father lifted the knife over his beautiful birthday cake, Pammy said with the air of someone conveying momentous news, "That cake is made with the very best ingredients. Mommy said so."

Her Aunt Chris began to laugh. "What's that you just said, Pammy? What's your father's cake made with?" she demanded. Then, straightening her face, she asked with pretended solemnity, "It is made with the very best what, dear? Tell us again..."

Pammy's father interrupted his sister to speak directly to his little girl. "You said a word wrong," he told her. "It's ingredients that make cakes, sweetie, not ingredients. We never heard the way you said it before, and it sounded new and funny. That's why we are all laughing."

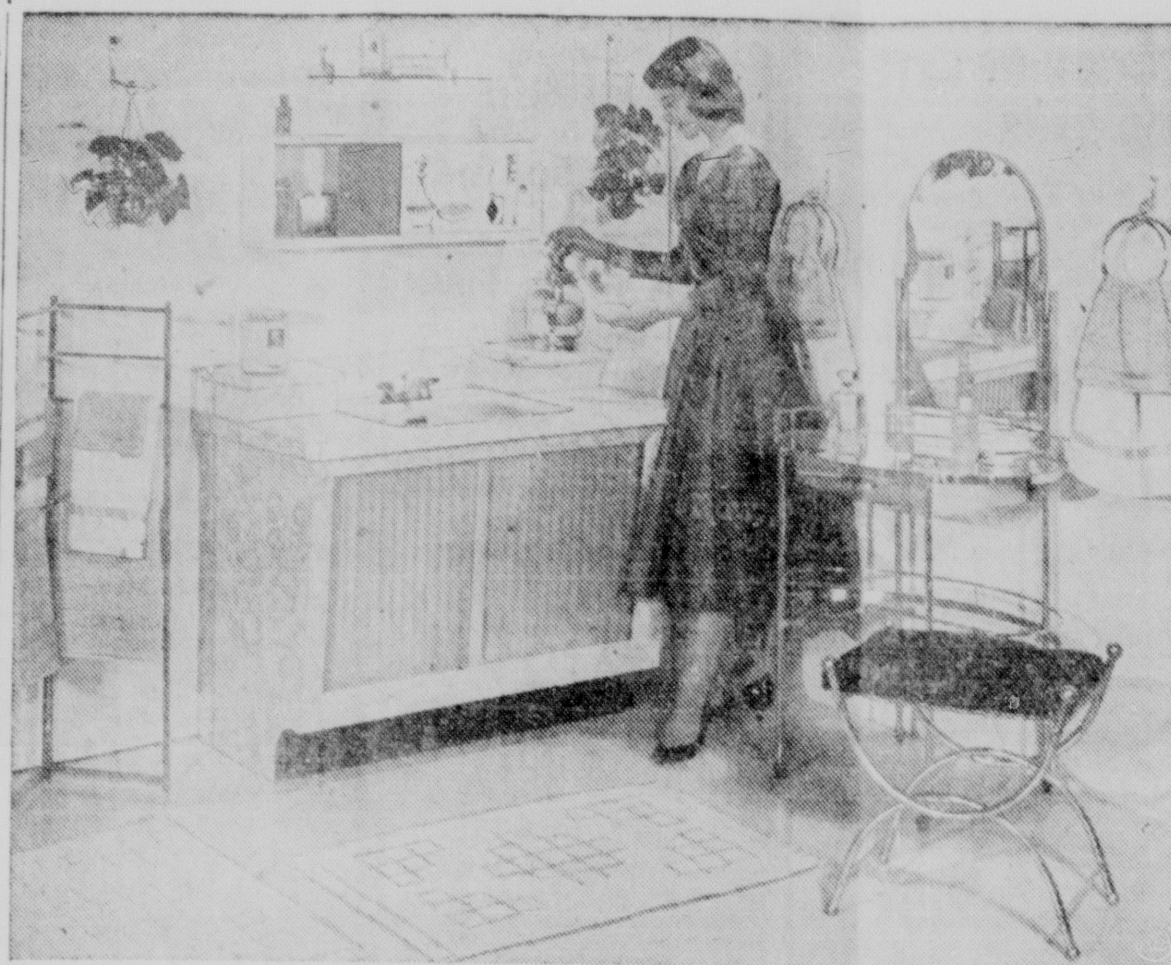

On Pammy's face, the look of helpless bewilderment gave way to a look of pleasure. And she was relieved to know that it was a wrongly said word that had amused Aunt Chris, not something bad or ugly about her that nobody wanted to mention.

Little children often say things we find amusing. As this is the fact, it's honest not to try and hide our amusement. But if we're going to laugh at them, let's remember to explain what it is we find so funny. Otherwise our laughter becomes ridicule.

As such, it threatens Pammy's self respect. If we keep on laughing at her without telling her how she's amused us, she'll take steps to defend herself against our ridicule. She'll start making herself ridiculous consciously and deliberately in the hope of provoking more laughter from us. By provoking it, our helpless little girl hopes to get control of the wounding thing. But she makes a show-off of herself out of fear.

Serve Annual Dinner

The annual turkey supper for the Sweet Springs Volunteer Fire Dept. was held at the City Hall Monday night. Fire chief, Lester Turner, with the help of the other firemen, served the meal to a large number. Several were present from the board of the rural fire association.

Lavender and pink highlighted by the gleam of solid brass bring a new elegance to bathroom decoration. Brass towel screen holds lavender and pink towels which sparkle with interwoven gold threads. English lavender scented bath products on shelves point up the coordination of color and fragrance.

Bathrooms Can Take on New Appearance With Bit of Imagination and Color Use

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

In the trend towards more luxurious living, bathrooms are getting their share of decorative attention. The "cute" or amusing approach to fixing up the bathroom seems to be on the wane. Greater elegance and style are reflected in new accessories and ideas.

Even a not-so-elegant bathroom can take on a refreshing new appearance with a bit of imagination and planning. Color is a good starting point. The trend today is away from too many strong colors and heavy patterns which can make a room look smaller and more cluttered than it is.

If you can't make up your mind, take a color cue from the handsome packaging of many bath products. Pink and lavender, for example, are in high decorative favor this year and suggest a coordinated background for English lavender-scented bath powders and soaps. Violets and roses could also step into the color scheme. Lavender or pink and white are combined in new towels, crimped rayon fiber rugs, window and shower curtains. As an accent note, don't overlook the new shades of blue which harmonize smartly with pink shades.

The gleam of gold also contributes an opulence to the newly decorated bathroom. You'll note gold threads interwoven in towels and rugs, gold overlays and designs on curtains and bright gilded plastic shower curtain rings. Solid brass accessories shine temptingly.

Brackets in many designs such as seashells, dolphins, seahorses and so on match up in several sizes to support towel rings, soap dishes, shelves, toothbrushes and water glasses.

Brass planters for real greenery and lantern jars to hold cotton or cakes of soap are versatile accessories now edging into bathrooms.

If you want to splurge, solid brass vanity tables and benches are elegance itself. Contemporary screen-like folding racks for towels are another rich looking addition to bathrooms and provide ample hanging space.

Incidentally, solid brass won't corrode under the humid conditions and many of the fine accessories have a clear finish baked on to protect against tarnish.

Ruth Millett Says—

Don't Change Yourself Just to Get Married

You've decided that he is the right man for you. Now there's another little matter you ought to consider: Are you the right woman for him?

He says you are; sure. But how about it? How great an effort have you been making to please him?

Have you been pretending to like a lot of things you don't care a hoot about—just because you know he likes them?

Have you changed your personality completely because you sensed he liked a shy, quiet type of girl—and repressing your natural exuberance in order to please him?

Have you avoided your friends he doesn't like?

Have you let him think you would be quite willing to give up your job and settle down to keeping house, when you really aren't quite sure?

Only you know to what extent you've changed yourself to appeal to the man you have decided is right for you.

Have you changed too much—more than you will be willing to stay changed once you are married?

If you have, look out. Marriage isn't going to be easy unless you can pretty much be yourself. Play acting will grow tiresome. Suppressing your own personality will become frustrating. Giving up your own interests will soon irk you.

Concordia Cub Scouts

The Concordia Cub Scouts had their annual turkey supper at the bank basement Friday night, with 75 attending. The cub master, Wally Otting, was in charge of the business meeting.

The new cub master for 1957 will be Edgar Otting, with Dr. H. H. Scholle as chairman.

The cub scouts and their den mothers presented short playettes, that you, as you are and without too much striving to appear differently, are what your fiancé wants in a wife.

If you are really right for him, you can relax and be yourself. If he wants a girl who can only appear to be by acting a part—then let him go find her.
